Edition 8.6, April - May 2012

BITS&PIECES

Villa Asmara

Cemagi's hidden secret.

Set snugly between the beach and the terraced rice fields of Cemagi on Bali's southwest coast, the four-bedroom Villa Asmara is the ideal hideaway for families and friends craving peace and privacy.

Named after the ancient Sanskrit word for love, guests will be captured by Asmara's spell from the moment they enter its doors. Perhaps it's the large wise Buddha gazing across the natural green-stone swimming pool, the sound of crashing waves in the distance, or the exotic tropical gardens, one thing's for sure, you can't help but feel the warm and positive energy that embraces this beautiful home.

Featuring an open-sided lounge and dining room, large swimming pool, games room, media room, shared tennis court, private chef and car with driver, Villa Asmara has it all, leaving guests yearning for nothing... except perhaps the possibility of an extended holiday.
